

A black and white portrait of a woman, Julia, smiling. She has dark hair pulled back and is wearing a patterned top. The background is dark and out of focus.

WELCOME TO THE TEAM

JULIA

CHIEF PEOPLE & CULTURE OFFICER

Let's get to know Julia a bit better!

Julia cares about how culture shapes performance. For her culture isn't separate from growth, it's the engine that accelerates personal and business growth.

She can't wait to spend time with teams across the business to unlock how we bring performance to life through our people, realising their potential while building a culture we're all proud to be part of.

Connect with Julia and say hello!

Beyond the job title

Because culture is built by real people, we asked julia one important question:

What gives you energy outside the working day?

Human connection is really where I get my energy – both in my life and at work. When I'm not at work, you'll probably find me with family or friends, skiing in the Alps or out on the water sailing.
